

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, April 11. 1704

From the Paris Gazette dated March 29.

Paris, March 29.

WE have Advice from Lisbon by an extraordinary Courier, that the 6th of this Month the Archduke arriv'd at Cascais, with 28 Men of War English and Dutch, and about 170 Transport Ships; and the next day came up the River to Lisbon. One of the English Men of War of 70 Guns and 400 Men was lost near the Fort of St. Julian; and a Transport Ship was wreck'd near the Castle of Belem.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated March 28.

Madrid, March 5. The Ministers, Noblemen, and Officers of the King's Household, who attend him into the Field, are these, The Duke of Medina Sidonia Master of the Horse, the Count de Benavente chief Butler; the Archbishop of Seville, the Abbot d'Etrees, the Marquess de Canales, the Marquess de Rivas. Gentlemen of the Chamber, the Marquess de Mont Alegre, the Duke de Sessa, the Duke d'Offuna, the Count de Penaranda, Don Garzia de Guzman, the Duke of Gandia, the Duke of Vexar. Majordomos, Don Alexis de Guzman, the Count de Priego, Don Fernando d'Argote. The Marquess de Laconi Captain of the Archers.

From the Paris Gazette, dated March 29.

Madrid, March 11. The King, before his departure, gave Orders for all the Effects belonging to Merchants, that came in the Amirante of the Fleet of Buenos Ayres, to be delivered to them without delay. His Majesty has nominated for his Aides de Camp, the Duke de Bejar, and his Brother Don Pedro Antonio de Zuniga, the Count de Castaneda, the Marquess of Jamaica, the Count de Colmenar, the Count de St. Estevan de Gormaz, the Marquess d'Ariza, the Marquess of Lancarote, Don Alonzo Manrique, and the Commandeur Ruffo. The 4th. of this Month the King went from hence on Horseback, accompanied by a great number of Lords and with his usual Guard, the Mousquetaires and Archers were richly cloth'd, and the Rear of his Retinue was clos'd by 200 Irish Dragoons. From the Palace and the Puente Segoviana to the Venta d'Alcorcon which is a League from this City, the Road was lin'd on each side with Coaches fill'd with Persons of Quality, and with a prodigious Crowd of People on Horseback and afoot that flock'd together to see his Majesty, and as he pass'd through them they made loud Acclamations, and gave him a thousand good wishes. Half a League from this City the King took Coach, and at Night arriv'd at Mostoles. The 6th. he went to Casarrubios, the 7th. to Fuenfajida, the 8th to Cevolla, and the 9th to Talavera, where he was present at a Bull Feast which the Gentlemen of those Parts had prepar'd against his coming. The ways all along were crowded with People that came far and wide to get a sight of him, and he has made himself the Delight of his Subjects, as well by his Application to Business as by his Piety in visiting the Churches of every Place through which he passes. Prince Tserclaes de Tilly came hither from Badajos to confer with the Duke of Berwick on the Operations of the Campaign, and is gone back to Badajos. The Duke of Berwick is gone to Alcantara with the Sieur de Puysegur. There is Advice from Africk, that the King of Morocco's eldest Son, having defeated his Father's Army, has possess'd himself of the City of Morocco.

From the Paris Gazette dated April 5.

Madrid, March 19. Since the King's Departure, the Queen has been indispos'd, but having been let Blood in the Foot she is perfectly recover'd. The King left Talavera the 11th, and that Night arriv'd at Oropeza. The Ways were deep, by reason of bad Weather; and in this Day's Journey the Duke of Medina Sidonia, Cavallerizzo Major, having sent a Peasant before to see which Road would be most commodious for his Majesty to take, offer'd him Money for his Pains. But the Peasant refus'd to accept it, and being told the King had order'd the Money to be given him, he answer'd that therefore he would not take it, for that it was not fit while his Majesty shew'd so much Zeal for the Good of his Subjects, and was going to defend them at so great Expence and Hazard of his own Person, he should be paid for so inconsiderable a Service; and that he wish'd he had Money to give his Majesty. The 12th the King proceeded to Calzada, the 13th to Casa Tejada, and to day he will reach Plafencia. The Duke of Sessa is made Captain of one of the 4 Companies of Life-Guards. We learn by a Courier dispatch'd from Cadix who arriv'd the 17th, That the Capitane of the Fleet of Buenos Ayres, who was separated in the Voyage from the Amirante, was attack'd by 2 English Frigates, and the Captain not finding himself able to resist them ran his Ship aground on a Sand Bank near Faro, [The Brussels Gazette of April 8. says this Ship was ran ashore near Ayamonte] and getting his Men ashore sent to Port St. Mary for Succours. The Marquess de Villadarias, who was there, immediately sent off 30 arm'd Barks and 2 Tartans, who in sight of the Enemy help'd to unlade the Silver and the Merchandize, which they carried safe off.

From the Brussels Gazette, April 8.

Paris, April 4. The 31st. Ult. a Courier arriv'd with Letters from the Duke of Berwick for the King, in which he acquaints his Majesty that the King of Spain designs to march along the side of the Tagus to enter Portugal. And the 2d. Instant a Courier arriv'd from Madrid with Advice that his Catholick Majesty with the Duke of Berwick would enter Portugal the 1st. of this Month, at the Head of the Strongest Body of his Troops, while Prince Tserclaes de Tilly should put himself in Motion with another Part of the Army from about Badajos.

From the Amsterdam Gazette dated April 18.

Paris, April 10. Couriers arrive almost daily from Spain but the Advices they bring are kept very secret. 'Tis reported however, that the President of Castile, had mov'd the King to call the Cortes or Estates of the Kingdom, but the Grandees who are best affected to his Catholick Majesty, have represented to him that it may be of dangerous Consequence for the Cortes to meet in the present Juncture of Affairs. The Letters from Madrid of the 22d Ult. advise that there is no likelihood of the King's entering upon Action against Portugal till the end of this Month; because he resolves not to put himself at the Head of his Army, till he has view'd several places in Castile, Andalouzia, Estramadura, and Galicia.
